

by lynn timer

Summary: Okay this is for a friend on another page, and for some reason I couldnt publish it on the other sight, oh well. This is a Sanosuke Hanadara/Self insert. Once again this is for a friend of mine. Enjoy. NON-BETA'ED ALL MISTAKES ARE MINE. SANOSUKE HANADARA IS NOT MY CHARACTER AND I MAKE NO MONEY FROM THIS! This is just a drabble shot. I hope it's enjoyed

Princess $\{\} * \{\} * \{\} * \{\} * \{\}$

"Eh? well if she's comin then maybe thing's will calm down around here." He said with a shrug. Heisuke raised a brow as he heard his friend before shaking his head. Shinpachi sighed and shook his head.

He swore that his friend was loosing it! but then again Sanosuke wasnt the one to party as much as Shinpachi, go figure.

"I've got to catch up with my team, dont get into trouble you two." The spear wielding male said making his two friends grin and ask if they ever did anything bad. That was what made the other captian turned and headed down another street before pausing hearing something. And as he took another step foward, he glared, it was a woman, and from the sounds of it someone was giving her trouble, and Sanosuke had no intention of letting it continue.

"Come on 'princess' we're fearless solider's giving our all to protect our home, and here you are, saying you arent willing to give us anything to make sure YOUR safe?" One man said with a sick sneer on his face as he stepped closer to the beautiful woman infront of him. Though the {E/C} female glared even harder. "NO." She snapped. This was why she was watched all the time, because of the shameless men that lurked around the corner waiting to pounce on the young woman.

"Aw come on now Kio, how about a kiss?" One of the men said with a smirk as he reached foward about ready to touch ehr when a hand gripped his wrist making him turn and glare seeing a man in the Shinsungimi blue's.

"Maybe not with her but i'll give you some attention."

The woman who had previously been slinking back against a wall, though now seeing a man standing infront of her would be attacker made her raise a brow. But before anything could happen, the men who had been trying to gain the woman's attention were walking off and eyes were on her again. And {Name} was truely greatful, so she straightened and smiled nodding her head as a faint blush came to her lips.

"Thankyou" {Name} said with a smile on her lips. She wasnt sure who the man was, but he had saved her, and that was something that deserved her gratitude. And when the male looked at her with a smile on his face the woman swore that her heart stopped beating for a few seconds and the heat of a blush creeping up her neck.

"Your welcome, Princess."

And just like that, her knight in shinning blue armor was turning and walking away as the princesses body guards came running, ready to shield her from the ugly harshness of the world again. Though the sound of the namess man calling her 'Princess' still rung in her ear's, and for once, the title 'Princess' didnt seem so bad.

End
file.